

3.4 System Design and Allocation of System Safety Requirements

The derived System Safety Requirements are allocated to the system elements.
If necessary, additional signal paths will be added.

= Safety related System Elements